

Exchange Programme

How to be a nice guest with your British hosts

On Food

Be polite and use phrases such as: “This is a bit unusual for me.”

“Yes, I have heard of it. I’ll try a little one for breakfast.”

“Oh, this is lovely. – What is it?”

“Any more?” – “It is very nice but I cannot eat any more.” / “Yes, please, just a little.”

Expectations

Germans are suspected of being rigid, arrogant, and humourless. – Why not give your hosts a pleasant surprise?

Be cooperative

After meals, offer to wash the dishes.
Make your own bed.

Gifts

Bring something nice like chocolate, sweets, or a football shirt.

Give some flowers when you leave.

Sports

Be as enthusiastic as you like but not over-ambitious.

Don’t show off. It is not appreciated.

Avoid embarrassing comparisons.

Nice little phrases

“Oh, this has been great.” “It has been a lovely evening.”

“Thank you very much for having me.”

Etc.

A general piece of advice

Watch what the British do. Try to blend in.

Exchange Programme

How to be a nice guest with your British hosts

On Food

Be polite and use phrases such as: “This is a bit unusual for me.”

“Yes, I have heard of it. I’ll try a little one for breakfast.”

“Oh, this is lovely. – What is it?”

“Any more?” – “It is very nice but I cannot eat any more.” / “Yes, please, just a little.”

Expectations

Germans are suspected of being rigid, arrogant, and humourless. – Why not give your hosts a pleasant surprise?

Be cooperative

After meals, offer to wash the dishes.
Make your own bed.

Gifts

Bring something nice like chocolate, sweets, or a football shirt.

Give some flowers when you leave.

Sports

Be as enthusiastic as you like but not over-ambitious.

Don’t show off. It is not appreciated.

Avoid embarrassing comparisons.

Nice little phrases

“Oh, this has been great.” “It has been a lovely evening.”

“Thank you very much for having me.”

Etc.

A general piece of advice

Watch what the British do. Try to blend in.

Exchange Programme

How to be a nice guest with your British hosts

On Food

Be polite and use phrases such as: “This is a bit unusual for me.”

“Yes, I have heard of it. I’ll try a little one for breakfast.”

“Oh, this is lovely. – What is it?”

“Any more?” – “It is very nice but I cannot eat any more.” / “Yes, please, just a little.”

Expectations

Germans are suspected of being rigid, arrogant, and humourless. – Why not give your hosts a pleasant surprise?

Be cooperative

After meals, offer to wash the dishes.
Make your own bed.

Gifts

Bring something nice like chocolate, sweets, or a football shirt.

Give some flowers when you leave.

Sports

Be as enthusiastic as you like but not over-ambitious.

Don’t show off. It is not appreciated.

Avoid embarrassing comparisons.

Nice little phrases

“Oh, this has been great.” “It has been a lovely evening.”

“Thank you very much for having me.”

Etc.

A general piece of advice

Watch what the British do. Try to blend in.